

CETACEAN MESSAGE

2-28-2011

This is information and messages from the whales and dolphins and Celestial Light Beings that are guiding us as we prepare for the Expand Your Consciousness conference and events in Hawaii in March. The dolphins are reminding us that life is created twice. Once as a potential and once in form in many manifested dimensions, including the third dimension. Our inner images serve as illumination, from the one choice that we make from the many potentials that exist within the body of Creator

Each of our experiences is valid. Some seem to be more endowed with this life giving energy of Creator, while others seem to reduce or take away from this feeling of Creator. Luckily, as living organisms we are coded with an eventual preference for energy and experiences that expand or give life. Sooner or later all of our creations, no matter how light or dark they may be, will have the urge or drive, the strong sense to return to Source.

The dolphins invite us to experiment with the creative energy of time travel within the matrix of God's creation. There is much within the possibilities of the hearts of each. Many have forgotten. They remind us that using imagery is one of the key elements that propels us on our path of enlightenment to both the inner and outer worlds. Focusing on Source energy and invoking the dolphins will assist us in opening the secret keys. With the dolphins help we enter into this world of time travel where there is mystery and love, and there is the magic of creating in a way that many have forgotten in the third dimension. In this place of the dolphins, we learn and remember how to make our dreams come true. And through the use of imagery and seeing things in reverse time, people can become aligned with their higher purpose and their dreams and live a life that rewards them with the pleasures that are theirs to create.

I am here with my cat Samuel who is a Great Being of Light. I am here in the midst of many swirling dolphins. They are saying that it is time for the people of the Western cultures to remember, to remember the knowledge from when we were the "First People." It is time to remember the ancient wisdom of interconnecting life with our dreaming mind and with our consciousness.

Once we lived in a way where we dreamed the day into being. And some people are starting to remember. They are asking me to reference the dreams and the people in my dreams of the last few days. They are showing me many vistas and pictures of what it will look like, or has looked like when I was in the big Island in Hawaii doing this work to bring the Mana to Earth assisted by the dolphins.

It is possible to affect future generations by the work we are about to do and the work we are doing now. They are saying the most important thing is to surrender to the Wisdom and the Joy of these creations. And continuing my visioning and visioning sacred geometry and hearing particular sounds within peoples' voices as they sing can create an amazing mixture of healing energies.

They're showing me a vision of being in the water with the dolphins and having fish come all around us, including dolphins and seeing the sacred geometry they are spinning around us in my mind's eye. And they are asking me to tune to the power of the Elementals, the Animal kingdoms, the especially the birds and the fish. Joining with them is powerful and we can create in a higher vibration, beyond what we can create on our own. They're showing me that these geometric figures in the water, actually create a skin or bubble around us. By aligning with the bubble of sacred geometry spinning around us that the dolphins and fish are creating, we can create a totally different resonant energy for ourselves that will allow the imagery to come to us in an easier way.

The dolphins are telling us that human health is related to sounds. There is much study and experimentation now with sound and vibrational healing for humans. Study has shown that certain sounds that are found in the musical scale, can also be found in people's voices. The dolphins encourage us to continue to experiment with how we can use our human voices to create intentional healing for various diseases. The dolphins and whales voices vibrate in many different octaves and dimensions beyond what we can create with our human voices. They encourage us to continue to explore healing for humans using their voices for realignment of our organ systems, auric fields and our electromagnetic circuitry. They also encourage us to continue to explore combining sacred geometry, light and the cetaceans voices for healing many human imbalances and diseases.

The cetacean family of dolphins and whales that live in our oceans originally lived on the land. They have millions of years of experience both as land Beings and now as water Beings. Through the eons of their existence, their brains have evolved to where they demonstrate a capacity for multidimensional awareness and the ability to live in peace and harmony. They are way showers for we humans and are inviting us to evoke their etheric presence in our meditations as well as their physical presence when we visit the oceans.

We sometimes look at our computers and our ability to Google [search] in just a few seconds and access information from all over the world within the archives of what humanity has created. The whales also have a global communication network within their minds that they have developed over millions of years. They remind us that the technology that we are using now with our computer systems is just a step towards creating this ability within our own matrix, our own physical matrix. The whales are telling us that the brain and heart connection is the key to higher wisdom and higher dimensional contact and communication. As we evolve and move through time and space, we will release the technology very quickly, and move into the matrix of our own minds. And again, they are reminding us that entering into our Sacred heart is the place we access the quantum field and can effectively use life wave or telepathic communication with all Beings of Light.

The dolphins and whales are saying that as humanity progresses and evolves, we will use the imagery process they have described. This process of visualizing and seeing the "end result of each intention" will help us grow and stretch as Creators. It will anchor us as global citizens as opposed to citizens that are offering a defensive vibration or posture of a particular area or community. Using positive imagery we will be able to connect with Beings all over the planet. This will connect us as brothers and sisters and move us back into creating from the "pod mind" which is the place of unity consciousness. Everything in life wants to grow. Everything in life wants to evolve and bring in a sense of more consciousness, more intelligence and more light. And as we evolve in this way and move toward Source, the old forms that served, no longer do, and they are shed like old skin.

So as these thought forms swirl around me, I'm guided to say that the dolphins and whales would like us to begin to consciously create using imagery. In this process we create by envisioning the end scenario, the last scene of each of those thought processes that would reference our manifested desires and intentions coming into fruition. They are telling us that by holding our intention and creating the vibration of moving backward in time, we can be very effective. They are showing me how to use the vibration of joy, moving backwards from the creation thought by thought, gently removing any behaviors, thought forms, people, or situations that would block the perfect manifestation of your intention. In doing so they're helping us remember that there is no time, and that we are all masters of time travel. In this process of creating through imagery, we access what the whales call the matrix of life. They are reminding us that life is but a playground and you are in charge of how you will play while you are on Earth!

The whales are saying that we will start to understand more as we realize that every black hole turns into a white hole. And when we do see this reality it will blossom as we tune to the toroidal fields of creation. They are saying that when we place an imaginary tetrahedron over our planet we can witness an energy phenomena at precisely 19.5 degrees. On Jupiter it is the famous eye of the storm. At 19.5 degrees there is an inwelling and an outwelling of energy from another dimension. The whales are telling us that we can experience this amazing energy on Earth at the Kilauea volcano in Hawaii and at the Pyramids of Egypt and at the Great Sphinx. It is also present at the ancient pyramid of Mexico at the top step. This energy of 19.5 degrees is also observable in England near Stonehenge where many crop circles appear.

The whales and dolphins are asking us to remember how to dream and create from our hearts. Dream from the place of Joy and then integrate the conscious use of time travel that would allow you to move backwards in time. Understanding that this work of imagery will help you to become a positive, loving, and conscious Creator and it can help you to work more effectively on a global scale. They invite each of us to feel our way back to a place of Service where we are consciously bringing in the intelligence and the Light of Creator every day! The Cetaceans offer us only loving support from the community of Light which is the "Pod Mind".
